

Latin America Private Bank Privacy Notice

EFFECTIVE FROM 31 AUGUST 2023

WHO IS THIS NOTICE ISSUED BY AND WHAT INFORMATION DOES IT PROVIDE?

The purpose of this notice is to explain how we “process” or use your personal data, to help you understand why we collect, use, store, share, and secure your data, and to explain your privacy rights.

This notice is issued by JPMorgan Chase & Co. and its branches, subsidiaries and affiliates identified as controllers in Schedule A, you can access this section by clicking here if you are viewing the document electronically. In this notice, we use “J.P. Morgan” “we”, “us” or “our” depending on context.

This notice uses certain defined terms:

- “Controller” is an entity that decides how and why personal data is processed and is usually responsible for complying with applicable data protection laws.
- “Data Protection Authority” is the public authority that is responsible for protecting, supervising and enforcing compliance with the Brazilian Data Protection Law.
- “Personal Data” is information that is about any individual, or from which any individual is identifiable. It can be anything from your name to your IP address. You can see what Personal Data we collect here.
- “Process, processed or processing” encompasses the collection, use, storage and analysis of data, among others. The principle covers anything that is done with any personal data, whether or not by automated means.
- “Processor” means any person or entity that processes Personal Data on behalf of the Controller (other than employees of the Controller).
- “Sensitive Personal Data” is personal data on racial or ethnic origin, religious belief, political position, membership in a trade union or affiliation to religious, philosophical or political organization, data concerning health or sexual life, genetic or biometric data, when linked with an individual under the Brazilian Data Protection Law.

This notice is designed to supplement any specific terms and conditions that may be applicable to your relationship with us. If you have any questions about the role of this document and how it applies to your personal data, you should speak to your J.P. Morgan team.

WHO SHOULD READ THIS NOTICE?

This notice is addressed to people with whom we interact. This includes:

- visitors to our websites (our “Sites”);
- customers (including prospective customers, our customers’ advisors, family office staff or other associated professional advisors or consultants);
- people connected with the customer as professional advisors, consultants, family office staff, directors, interns, secondees or officers;

OUR APPROACH TO DATA PROTECTION

Data Security: We have implemented appropriate technical and organizational security measures designed to protect your Personal Data. We protect your data in line with our global security program built on our core principles of only using the data required for the processing in question, controlling access to systems and datasets to those who need to use the data, and using an encryption and anonymization process to secure the data that we hold in our systems. You are responsible for ensuring that any Personal Data you send to us are sent securely.

Data Accuracy: We take reasonable steps designed to ensure that any Personal Data we process are accurate and, where necessary, kept up-to-date and that any of your Personal Data that we process that are inaccurate (having regard to the purposes for which they are processed) are erased or rectified without delay. From time to time, we may ask you to confirm the accuracy of your Personal Data.

Data Minimization: We take reasonable steps designed to ensure that your Personal Data we process are limited to the Personal Data reasonably required in connection with the purposes set out in this notice.

SHARING YOUR PERSONAL DATA INTERNATIONALLY

Because of the international nature of our business, we may need to transfer your Personal Data within the J.P. Morgan group, and to third parties, in connection with the purposes set out in this notice. For this reason, we may transfer your Personal Data to other countries that may have different laws and data protection compliance requirements, including data protection laws of a lower standard to those that apply in the country in which you are located.

Where we transfer your Personal Data to other countries, we do so on the basis of:

- adequacy decisions;
- consent
- suitable standard contractual clauses; or
- other valid transfer mechanisms.

If you want to receive more information about the safeguards applied to international transfers of personal data, please contact us using the details provided in ‘What should I do if I have questions?’ or by clicking here, if you are viewing this document electronically.

HOW LONG DO WE RETAIN YOUR PERSONAL DATA FOR?

We will retain your Personal Data in line with our data retention policy and for the minimum period required. The duration of the retention period is determined by a number of criteria, including the nature of our relationship with you, the relevant jurisdiction, the type of data, and the products and services that the data relates to.

We will retain your Personal Data for as long as we have an ongoing relationship with you—for example, if you are a client, or a recipient of one of our mailing lists—or where we need to retain the Personal Data in connection with the lawful purposes set out in this notice and we have a valid legal basis for doing so. In the event of a legal claim, we may continue to process your Personal Data for such period as is necessary in connection with that legal claim.

After this period, we will typically retain your Personal Data for any additional limitation period (i.e., any period during which a legal claim could be raised) plus an additional reasonable period of time after the end of the limitation period, in order to ensure that the data can be used in connection with any legal claim that may be brought. During the legal hold period, we will restrict our processing of your Personal Data to the storage of, and maintaining the security of, the data, except to the extent that the data need to be reviewed in connection with any legal claim, or any obligation under applicable law.

Once we no longer need to retain your Personal Data, we will either:

- permanently delete or destroy the relevant Personal Data;
- archive your Personal Data so that it is beyond use; or
- anonymize the relevant personal data.

YOUR LEGAL RIGHTS

Subject to applicable law, you may have certain rights in relation to your data, and we want to make sure that you can exercise them. In some cases, however, we may not be able to continue to provide you with certain products and services or continue to operate your account.

To exercise one or more of these rights, or to ask a question, please contact us.

This does not affect any other rights that you may have under an agreement or applicable law.
