IMPORTANT INFORMATION

¹ Sales of U.S. listed stocks and exchange-traded funds (ETFs) are subject to a transaction fee of between $0.01 and $0.03 per $1,000 principal. Purchases and sales of options are subject to an additional transaction fee of between $0.02 and $0.05 per options contract. Transaction fees are intended to offset fees charged by various regulatory bodies and/or exchanges, and change periodically; please refer to your trade confirmation for the current fee. The amount collected may be more or less than the amount ultimately paid to the various regulatory bodies and/or exchanges. In the event of the former, no reimbursement will be distributed back to your account, and, in the event of the latter, there will be no additional charge made to your account. Foreign equity transactions are subject to a commission of 0.20% of the principal amount of the shares sold.

² There are costs associated with owning ETFs. Before investing in ETFs, you should consider the funds' investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses. Contact the service center for a prospectus or, if available, a summary prospectus containing this information. Read it carefully. ETFs are subject to market fluctuation and the risks of their underlying investments; ETFs are also subject to management fees and other expenses. Unlike mutual funds, ETF shares are bought and sold at market price, which may be higher or lower than their net asset value (NAV), and are not individually redeemed from the fund.

³ Commission-free online trades apply to trading U.S. listed stocks, ETFs and options. Options trades are subject to a $0.65 per-contract fee.

⁵ There are costs associated with owning a mutual fund, such as annual operating fees and expenses. This and other important information is included in the prospectus, which should be read carefully before investing. Investors should carefully consider the investment objectives and risks, as well as charges and expenses of the mutual fund before investing. To obtain a prospectus, call the service center or visit the fund company's website. The prospectus contains this and other information about the mutual fund. Read the prospectus carefully before investing.

⁸ New issues of Corporate, Municipal and Government Agency bonds are not available online at this time.

¹The annual rate of interest that you will be charged on any U.S. dollar denominated credit is based on either the Prime interest rate (Prime) or the Secured Overnight Financing Rate (SOFR). The Prime is an important index used by banks to set rates on many consumer loan products, such as credit cards or auto loans. The Prime will move up or down in lockstep with changes made by the Federal Reserve Board. SOFR is a benchmark for dollar-denominated derivatives and loans. SOFR is based on transactions in the Treasury repurchase market.
